BLENDING FLAVOR & SOUND
HOW BETTER SOUND CAN CREATE A BETTER DINING EXPERIENCE

MUSIC. AN INGREDIENT TO ENHANCE ANY MEAL.

As any good restaurateur knows, leave out a key ingredient and the dish just isn't the same. What's true of your cuisine is also true of the experience in your restaurant. The food, the service, and so much more all contribute to creating an experience for your guests that feels completely different from everyday dining.

The same is true of the sound.

Like a welcoming greeting, music and sound help establish the atmosphere as soon as a guest walks through the door.

With a Bose system, sound can be blended in just the right way to create nearly everything from a relaxing environment for dining and conversation to an energy filled experience of food and fun.

From one-of-a-kind bistros to casual family dining and quick serve restaurants, a Bose sound system can enhance your atmosphere, blend seamlessly with your design, and provide the flexibility and ease-of-use you're looking for.

ADDING BOSE SOUND CAN CREATE JUST THE RIGHT ATMOSPHERE FOR YOUR RESTAURANT.

Fine dining

When it comes to your food, you excel at getting the flavors to work together without any single one overpowering the others. The same can be possible with your music. A Bose partner can design each system so that the music is always present but never distracting.

Casual dining

When your customers are looking for a fun, comfortable, laid-back atmosphere, enjoying their favorite types of music can be the perfect complement to the popular favorites on your menu.

Fast casual restaurants

Even when diners may not always have the time or the budget for traditional sit-down dining, music can still be an important part of the experience. Clear, full sound can be a highly effective way to distinguish your atmosphere and reinforce your brand image.

Bars & sports bars

When people want to get together to watch the big game or simply enjoy some good times, music and sound can contribute to the liveliness and fun. A Bose system can deliver sound to capture more of the action and reproduce music with energy that adds to the celebration.

Live entertainment

Live music and other entertainment can make your restaurant stand out from your competition. But just as the ingredients matter for the meal, the sound quality matters for the live entertainment. A Bose partner understands the challenges of live, recorded, and streaming music so they can design a system for your unique space and how you want to use it.

Cafes & coffee shops

Cafes have become popular havens to answer emails, work offsite, or just meet up during the day. Music can be as important as a well-crafted latte to creating a relaxing, comfortable, and productive atmosphere.

Outdoor patios

Gardens, sunshine, and fresh air can add a welcomed dimension to dining. So can music. A Bose system can enhance the surroundings while blending seamlessly into the outdoor environment you've created.

Entertainment centers

When you're looking to engage the senses of your guests at a high level, the performance of your sound system can be a critical factor. A Bose system can be designed to deliver both clear, intelligible announcements and foreground sound and music.

A BETTER AUDIO EXPERIENCE FOR YOUR GUESTS. A DEPENDABLE, EASY-TO-USE SYSTEM FOR YOU AND YOUR STAFF.

For nearly 50 years, Bose Professional and our extensive network of audio professionals have provided solutions for a wide range of businesses, including restaurants, bars, and other places where people gather to enjoy food, friends, and good times.

Bose systems are designed to deliver the sound performance you want along with the reliability and ease of operation that leave you and your staff free to focus on creating the best experience possible for your guests and customers.

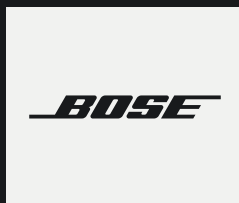

THE BOSE PROFESSIONAL PRIORITY

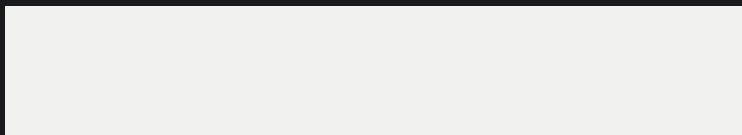

In the pro audio industry, collaboration brings a huge advantage — because our partners are experts. System designers, integrators, installers, sound engineers, musicians. They know sound. And they continually help us make better products.

We help our partners build incredible pro audio experiences — so their customers' businesses can be more successful, their workdays can be more productive, and their performances can be in the moment.
